2.	On 17 September, source overheard a conversation between a Soviet Air Force lieutenart wearing a gold flying badge and a German civilian. The lieutenant said that the jet aircraft have a top speed of 800 to 900 km/h and a cruising speed of up to 280 km/h.
3.	On 22 September, a local resident said that parachuting has been practiced over the area 3 km south-southwest of Neuruppin in line with the Treskower Hills since 15 September. Three twin-engine transports would approach from the northwest at an altitude fol,000 to 1,500 meters, dropped 6 to 8 parachutists each while flying a circle and then headed northwest. The resident also said that the parachutists assembled on the Neuruppin-Paulinenaus road, or on Highway No 167 near Rechlin from there they were brucked toward Neuruppin. **
